The following story is a work of fiction created by Cency a winner of our "Let's make a story" competition as an alternate ending to Kuroneko Kareshi to Afurekata

P.s: I will also post my story on my blog for those wanting to read it. I have included pictures. It's my alternate ending to the Afurekata series.

Story by: Cency

Keiichi has returned to America after visiting his brother to cancel his plans with Yuugin to give Shingo the ring. He is in his hotel room with Angelo who is updating him of the movies progress which has further been delayed. Keiichi stares at the ring, which he has brought along with him and spaces out recalling the scene of Shingo masturbating during his visit to their apartment and Shingo's sweet tantalising scent and his desire to hully Shingo in that moment. Angelo notices Keiichi's distraction asking him if it's because of his kitty, Angelo offer to be Keiichi lover and help him get his mind of his kitty. Keiichi kindly apologises and asks to be excused, as Angelo leaves he points out to Keiichi he clearly can't get his mind off Shingo he should give his relationship with Shingo another chance.

After his last encounter with Keichi in their apartment, Shingo has decided to return to his previous lifestyle roaming the streets in cat form by night and sleeping by day. Keichi stares at the ring box deep in thought, after taking a shower he receives an email from Masaya-san indicating he has no information of Shingo's current whereabouts since he has not reported to work in a few days after leaving to collect a few of his belongings. Keichi makes arrangements with Michigise-san to book the next flight to Japan. Upon arriving he searches all the places he thinks Shingo might be at his old apartment, Yuuging's place, Masaya-san's place, and Hasumi's place but with very frustration. While driving back to his apartment, a stray cat runs into the road Keichi swerves to avoid it but crashes him into a sign post knocking him unconscious. From a nearby alley emerges a black cat, Keichi awakes in a hospital room with Ei and Yuggin at his side they inform him he has suffered minor bruising and a concussion which will heal in a few days, but the good Samaritan who rescued him would like to see him.

Shingo walks in dressed in hospital scrubs, Keiichi is surprised to see Shingo a momentary silence transpires until Ei suggests he and Yuugin go and get some coffee leaving the two alone. Keiichi thanks Shingo for his assistance, Shingo asks Keiichi why he is back since his movie is still an ongoing project. Keiichi smiles and mentions he came back for his cat which he never should have left behind. A teary

Shingo points out seeing Kagami in that crash showed him he feared losing Keiichi but he does not want to be second place in Kagami's life. Keiichi informs Shingo that he cannot guarantee their professional lives won't interfere with their personal lives but offers Shingo the ring as his token of commitment, telling him of the ring's design should Shingo accept it, while he slips it on Shingo's finger he asks Shingo to go with him to America. They embrace and kiss passionately.
